Since 2000 “aiutare i bambini” has helped more than 1 million children through 1,034 projects in 72 countries around the world.

Mission and Values

“aiutare i bambini” is an Italian charitable Foundation established in 2000 with the mission to “help and support children who are poor, ill, without an education or abused physically and morally, giving them the opportunity and the hope of a decent life”.

It is an independent, lay organization, and is also designated an ‘ONLUS’ (Non-profit organization of social value). It operates without discrimination of culture, ethnicity and religion, and upholds the United Nations rights of the child.

In pursuing its mission, “aiutare i bambini” is inspired by the following values:

- Freedom
- Justice
- Truth
- Respect for other people
- Solidarity

Founder and President

The founder and president of the Foundation “aiutare i bambini” is Engineer Goffredo Modena, born in Bologna in 1938.

At the age of 43 he made a significant “jump” from manager to entrepreneur in the telecommunications sector. He guided his company to success, increasing sales from 1 billion to 260 billion Italian lire, and personnel from 30 to 350 employees.

At the age of 59 he decided to sell the company to an American firm, and start a new phase in his life, devoting his time and expertise to helping others, especially children. At the age of 60, in 2000, he decided with his wife and three children, to set up in Milan the Foundation “aiutare i bambini”.

In the Favela Mata Escura in Salvador de Bahia, Brazil, the Foundation is supporting a shelter through child sponsorships.

The President Goffredo Modena visiting a nursery supported by the Foundation in Milan.
The Foundation “aiutare i bambini” does not undertake projects directly with its own personnel and structure, neither abroad nor in Italy. It supports financially specific interventions managed by local organizations (partners) represented by a Project director.

Among the numerous requests received by the Foundation during the year, the Technical Committee considers only those that fall into one of the priority intervention areas. The Technical Committee’s evaluation is conducted through a method based on objective parameters that assign an overall score to each request. Every quarter all the projects evaluated by the Technical Committee are ranked in decreasing order of score and proposed to the Board of Directors, which considers the approval of the projects. Projects are approved in sequence, starting with the ones with the highest score, and continuing until all the funds for that quarter are exhausted.

To this approach, which is typical of a financing institution, “aiutare i bambini” also adds a systematic approach alongside the local partners in the various phases of the implementation, monitoring and evaluation of the projects.

The Strategy

Abroad
Projects financed abroad initially have a duration of one year (micro projects of an average value of 10,000 euro). If the results of the first year are satisfactory, the Foundation can decide to develop, with the partner, a multiyear program of support (for a total amount of between 30,000 and 40,000 euro per year).

The areas defined as priorities by the Foundation, in line with the “Millennium Goals” (Millennium Development Goals MDGs) set by the United Nations and subscribed to by all Members States of UN are as follows:

- Goal The reduction of child mortality (from heart defects)
  - Campaign CHILDREN’S HEARTS
- Goal Access to safe drinking water
  - Campaign LACK OF WATER!
- Goal Food and agricultural development
  - Campaign FOOD EMERGENCY
- Goal Access to education
  - Campaign CHILD SPONSORSHIP

Italy
Italy is the country receiving the greatest amount of the Foundation’s resources. The activity of the Foundation on the national territory has developed in the last few years, and is focused on the following three areas of intervention:

- Goal The reduction of child mortality (from heart defects)
  - Campaign CHILDREN’S HEARTS
- Goal Access to safe drinking water
  - Campaign LACK OF WATER!
- Goal Food and agricultural development
  - Campaign FOOD EMERGENCY
- Goal Access to education
  - Campaign CHILD SPONSORSHIP

In addition to the projects listed above, in 2012 the Foundation “aiutare i bambini” supported the construction of a multipurpose community centre in San Possidonio (Modena), following the earthquake which hit Emilia in May.

The following pages provide an insight into the 4 areas of intervention abroad and the 3 areas of intervention in Italy. In addition to the projects described below, during 2012 the Foundation supported other projects abroad, mostly within the area of health care.

More than 1/3 of the funds distributed have been allocated to projects in Italy.
It is estimated that in the world every year 1 million children are born with congenital heart diseases. About 80% of these are born in poor countries. Due to a lack of medical and surgical care, half of them will not reach their first birthday; and others experience serious problems of growth and psychosomatic development due to respiratory and circulatory problems.

THE PROBLEM

1 million children with heart diseases

THE ANSWER

Heart surgery in Italy, missions abroad, supporting local doctors

With the help of Italian volunteer doctors and hospital facilities, the Foundation acts to save the lives of children, born in the poorest countries, with serious heart diseases. The Foundation also promotes the training of indigenous medical personnel. There are three means of intervention:

- when there are no adequate hospital structures in their home countries children are operated on in Italy;
- missions abroad where volunteer Italian doctors travel to local hospitals to carry out surgery on the children and train local doctors;
- surgery on children directly in their home country, with the Foundation covering the cost of the operation for the poorest families.

OVERALL RESULTS

More than 700 pediatric cardio-surgical procedures

Thanks to “aiutare i bambini” up to now the lives of 737 children with serious heart diseases, born in Africa, Asia and Eastern Europe have been saved through cardio surgical operations, hundreds of children have been examined and about 100 foreign doctors have been trained.

The main active collaborators are currently the units of pediatric heart surgery of Bergamo’s Azienda Ospedaliera Papa Giovanni XXIII, Milan’s Ospedale Niguarda, the Policlinico of San Donato Milanese and Massa’s Ospedale del Cuore G. Pasquinucci.

During a typical week long mission of “Children’s hearts” abroad, about 20 children are operated on and more than one hundred are examined.
Access to safe drinking water

In line with its mission and with the Millennium Goals, “aiutare i bambini” focused on financing projects concerning the better utilization of water resources, via the campaign “Lack of water!”.

THE PROBLEM
700 million people in the world are affected by a scarcity of water

According to a recent report of ‘UN water’, a unit of the United Nations, more than 700 million people in over 40 countries are affected by a scarcity of water. It is estimated that every year more than 1.5 million children die from illnesses related to a lack of clean water.

THE ANSWER
Wells and an improvement in water hygiene

Improvements in the access to safe drinking water supported by the Foundation are: the excavation of new wells, the recovery of damaged water networks, the purification of water from polluted groundwater and the construction of water distribution systems for farming and social purposes. These interventions are also accompanied by projects aimed at encouraging the promotion of hygienic behavior and the improvement of sanitary structures among children and their communities.

OVERALL RESULTS
Development of rural communities

The availability of safe, clean water changes the life of the communities, especially in rural areas. The children are the first to benefit: their health improves, their schools and their houses have working bathrooms and effective sewage disposal and their parents can use the water for agricultural purposes. Thanks to “aiutare i bambini” 47 wells or hydric facilities have been built in Africa, Asia and Latin America, helping tens of thousands children and their communities.

The Foundation has supported the creation of a safe drinking water distribution system in the Andean province of Cotopaxi, Ecuador, in an area at an altitude of more than 3,000 meters inhabited by indigenous people speaking the Quechua language.
According to the World Health Organization, hunger is ranked first in the list of the ten main risks to health. It is the cause of more deaths than AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria put together. In the poorest countries about one third of the deaths of children below five years of age are related to malnutrition.

Food and agricultural development

In line with its mission, the Millennium Goals, and in close connection with the interventions concerning access to safe drinking water, “aiutare i bambini” gave great attention to financing projects aimed at ensuring food and favoring agricultural development in the context of projects in favor of childhood, supported through the campaign “Food emergency”.

THE PROBLEM
One third of child deaths are linked to malnutrition

According to the World Health Organization, hunger is ranked first in the list of the ten main risks to health. It is the cause of more deaths than AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria put together. In the poorest countries about one third of the deaths of children below five years of age are related to malnutrition.

THE ANSWER
Agricultural support and distribution of foodstuffs

For years the Foundation, alongside its interventions to improve access to safe water, has supported measures related to food safety. Favoring a more intensive use of agriculture in the context of projects in favor of childhood (for example schools, shelters) it is possible to improve the ability to produce food for self-sufficiency and prevent situations of famine and starvation. In addition to these types of interventions, the Foundation also operates in emergency situations, distributing foodstuffs to the most vulnerable groups.

OVERALL RESULTS
Food safety

The vast rural areas that characterize some of the poorest countries in the world can be utilized by encouraging the access to natural resources while at the same time respecting the ecosystem. Up until now, “aiutare i bambini” has completed 12 programs concerning food safety.

In Kenya in 2012 a disease caused by a combination of two insect borne viruses hit the cultivation of corn: harvest losses even reached 90% in some places. As a consequence the Foundation intervened with a food emergency project in favor of the children of Mosop Mission School in Bor, in 2012.
According to the International Labor Organization, more than 215 million children in the world cannot go to school, play or receive adequate nutrition because they are obliged to work or live in conditions in which they are exploited. These children are doomed to poverty and exposed to physical, psychological and moral risks, which carry negative consequences for their entire lives.

Access to education

In line with its mission, and with the Millennium Goals, “aiutare i bambini” is supporting through child sponsorship, multiannual education programs aimed at supporting single children or groups of children to attain their school leaving certificates.

THE PROBLEM
215 million children forced to work

According to the International Labor Organization, more than 215 million children in the world cannot go to school, play or receive adequate nutrition because they are obliged to work or live in conditions in which they are exploited. These children are doomed to poverty and exposed to physical, psychological and moral risks, which carry negative consequences for their entire lives.

THE ANSWER
Access to education via child sponsorships

In most countries or contexts in which the Foundation is financing projects, the access to education represents a daily challenge for thousands of children. Even where there is free public education, the quality is often very poor; there are few classrooms and they are often inadequate for the number of students. Schools are often far from the family home, and uniforms and teaching materials have to be bought by the families. Child sponsorship programs cover part of annual cost (teaching materials, uniform, canteen, teacher’s salaries) and support the child until they achieve their objective: the elementary or secondary school diploma, depending on the institution attended.

A future of hope for thousands of children

Over the years the Foundation “aiutare i bambini” has undertaken thousands of child sponsorships, giving the opportunity to many children to build a future different from the poverty and misery to which they would have been destined without education. The Foundation requests the donor who supports a child sponsorship program to commit to a continuous period of at least 3-5 years.

In Italy only 1 child in 5, between the ages of 6 months and 3 years, attends a pre-school establishment. Instead, the goal for European countries is to provide a place for at least 1 in 3 children. There are few nursery schools and supervised play areas in Italy and families, increasingly composed of only a single parent, are in need of this type of service. Due to the current economic crisis they find it increasingly difficult to cope with the fees charged for these services.

Support in early childhood

The main intervention area of “aiutare i bambini” in Italy is in the support of early childhood care. This has occurred through the initiation or expansion of nursery schools and supervised play areas over the whole of the country, through the campaign “A nursery school for every child”.

THE PROBLEM

Only 1 child in 5 goes to nursery school

In Italy only 1 child in 5, between the ages of 6 months and 3 years, attends a pre-school establishment. Instead, the goal for European countries is to provide a place for at least 1 in 3 children. There are few nursery schools and supervised play areas in Italy and families, increasingly composed of only a single parent, are in need of this type of service. Due to the current economic crisis they find it increasingly difficult to cope with the fees charged for these services.

THE ANSWER

New services for early childhood care

The Foundation supports the launch or expansion of new nursery schools and supervised play areas, in order that a greater number of children can be accommodated. The nursery schools are located mainly in suburban areas or in geographical areas that lack early childhood services. At least 25% of the available places are reserved for children belonging to families with the greatest need. The services are managed by organizations (cooperatives, associations) that have a lengthy experience in this area. The Foundation covers the costs of personnel, furniture, rent, and, if needed, restructuring costs. The Foundation also encourages volunteers to take up auxiliary positions (i.e., in the areas of cooking, cleaning, maintenance) or to work alongside the educational personnel.

OVERALL RESULTS

67 nursery schools and supervised play areas supported

In six years the Foundation has supported 67 nursery schools or supervised play areas in all parts of Italy, at a cost of 2,272,509 euro. More than 2,400 children have attended an early childhood structure supported by “aiutare i bambini”, which has given them favorable conditions in which to develop both in cognitive and social areas. As a consequence the families of the children have been able to devote themselves to their work. In the last two years the nursery schools supported by the Foundation have been selected through National Calls for tenders in cooperation with the Foundation CON IL SUD (2011 and 2012, “A nursery school for every child - Southern area”) and UnCredit Foundation (2011, “Seven nursery school for seven regions”).

All children, but especially the ones coming from families in social distress, have the right to be welcomed into a calm environment, appropriate to their needs, which is the aim of the nursery schools supported by “aiutare i bambini”.

In Italy, 1 young person in 5 leaves school without obtaining either a high school diploma or a professional qualification. Every year 19,000 students, after having enrolled in the first year of high school, seem literally to “disappear” from the education system. In Italy the phenomenon of truancy (compulsory education in Italy is until 16 years of age) and of school drop out (young people over the age of compulsory education but not completing their course of studies) is twice the 10% fixed as the European base level.

The second area of intervention of “aiutare i bambini” in Italy is aimed at addressing the phenomena of high school drop out and truancy. This is tackled thanks to the support of after school centers for boys and girls from 6 to 18 years old, through the campaign “Growing up together”.

In Italy, 1 young person in 5 leaves school without obtaining either a high school diploma or a professional qualification. Every year 19,000 students, after having enrolled in the first year of high school, seem literally to “disappear” from the education system. In Italy the phenomenon of truancy (compulsory education in Italy is until 16 years of age) and of school drop out (young people over the age of compulsory education but not completing their course of studies) is twice the 10% fixed as the European base level.

The Foundation supports centers for boys and girls both of compulsory school age and those in high schools. The children and young people attend these centers voluntarily in the afternoon. They do their homework, work on subject areas in which they have some gaps or simply to stay together with their peers in a positive, calm and stimulating environment. The projects have several aims: to prevent school drop out through the support of teachers and volunteers in various areas of study; to offer to the children and young people a place to socialize and grow, through the organization of cultural, recreational and sports activities and to promote intercultural integration. The centres are situated all over Italy, also in slums and areas with a high level of social problems.

For many young people having difficulties at school, assistance such as that provided by after school centers supported by “aiutare i bambini” can be a decisive factor in them continuing their studies.
Supporting youth employment

Since 2011 “aiutare i bambini” has decided to start a new area of intervention to combat youth unemployment. This involves work place scholarships for young people who have dropped-out of school, through the campaign “Young people at work”.

THE PROBLEM

Youth unemployment is at a very high level in Italy

In Italy youth unemployment is rising steadily: according to the latest data for 2012 it affects 35% of the population between 15 and 24 years of age (students excluded). This is the highest level noted since records began to be collected. The problem is mainly due to the economic crisis, but it is also connected in part to the phenomenon of high school drop-out: young people leaving their studies without obtaining a qualification, which makes it extremely difficult for them to join the labour force.

THE ANSWER

Work experience

With regard to young people up to the age of 18, who have dropped out of school and have no professional qualifications, the Foundation supports paid work experiences with work scholarships of 300 euro a month for a period of six months. The training takes place in companies in the same area in which the young people live and are managed by both a a qualified teacher (who designs and monitors the training and maintains contact with the company and the young person's family) and by a company tutor who follows the young people in their professional progress, teaching them a trade and the basic rules of the work place (from basic punctuality, to the management of relationships with colleagues and clients). The contribution of “aiutare i bambini” covers, in addition to the work scholarship for the young person, also part of the costs of the tutor and the necessary insurance.

OVERALL RESULTS

72 scholarships, 23 young people given work experience placements

In two years, thanks to the cooperation with 11 Professional Training Centers, non-profit organizations and religious entities, the Foundation has involved 72 young people in work experience at a total cost of 286,840 euro. After the work experience, some companies have even offered the young person employment. Whatever the outcome, the work experience represents an important step in the growth of these young people, allowing them (often for the first time) experience in a work environment.
In 2012, 51,185 donations were collected (a slight decrease compared to the 51,727 donations of the previous year) for a total of 4,268,121 euro. Notwithstanding the decrease in the number of donations, the total funds raised increased 2% from 2011. A good result considering the difficult economic and social situation in Italy.

In addition to the donations from the Founders of “aiutare i bambini”, the most significant part of the funds raised comes from: private donors, events, companies and Foundations. The first two types of donors showed an increase over the previous year (Private donors +0.7%, Events +2%), on the other hand there was a decrease in donations from Companies (-0.6%), and an increase from Foundations (+0.7%).

The funds collected are allocated to the projects chosen by donors. If the donor does not express a preference for a particular project, “aiutare i bambini” allocates the funds to the most urgent projects. Once the amount necessary to support a certain project has been reached, the excess funds are allocated to other projects.

In 2012 funds used for the charitable projects were 3,107,307 euro equal to 70.9% of the total funds raised. Funds used for charitable projects include the costs of awareness raising materials i.e. all the expenses to keep donors informed about the projects they are financing and to promote the activity of the Foundation.

In 2011 funds used for the charitable projects were 67.2% of the total funds raised. The improvement in this important indicator is mainly due to the decrease in the cost of fund raising (9.7% in 2011), obtained thanks to the continued efforts to reduce the costs of communications and events.

Funds raising from foundations

The “aiutare i bambini” Foundation is cooperating with other Foundations on certain topics, thanks to the Foundation’s significant experience and expertise gained in the non-profit sector.

Equally important is the relationship that has developed between “aiutare i bambini” and other Corporate Foundations. Some of the significant relationships developed by “aiutare i bambini” with other Foundations are: Cariplo Foundation, CON IL SUD Foundation, UniCredit Foundation, Mediolanum Foundation, Fondation Assistance Internationale (FAI).
Funds raising from companies and CSR

For several years the Foundation “aiutare i bambini” has promoted and encouraged, projects of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) both with Italian and multinational companies, based on the principles of transparency, sharing, mutual respect and benefit.

The relationship between the companies and the Foundation has the common aim of identifying projects in Italy and around the world that are in need of urgent help and a prompt intervention in favor of children most in need.

The loyalty of companies who have for many years supported the projects of “aiutare i bambini”, is based on the reliability of the Foundation, the concreteness of the interventions and the continuous, timely and complete updating of the documentation concerning the progress of the projects.

Main types of cooperation with Companies

DONATIONS
- Grants: the donations to “aiutare i bambini” enjoy tax benefits provided by Italian law for donations in favor of an ONLUS
- Gifts in kind: companies give to “aiutare i bambini” their products and services
- Donation of unclaimed prizes: companies give to “aiutare i bambini” prizes not collected
- Child sponsorship: the company activates one or more child sponsorships to share with employees

IN VolvEMEnT OF EMPLOYEES
- Community day: volunteer days at the projects of the Italian campaigns “A nursery school for every child” and “Growing up together”
- Payroll giving and Matching Gift Program: a fixed monthly amount, agreed by the employee, is deducted from the salary to support an “aiutare i bambini” project. Sometimes the donation is matched by the company
- Sports events: sports tournaments and competitions in which a team from each company participates, the entry fees going to support a project of “aiutare i bambini”
- Training and Team Building: preparatory courses for volunteers, useful in the acquisition of new skills and abilities (i.e. photography, cooking, acting, team building)

MARKETING AND COMMUNICATION
- Cause Related Marketing: part of the proceeds from the sale of selected products chosen by the company is given to projects of “aiutare i bambini”
- Loyalty points: large retail stores give their clients the opportunity to donate their loyalty points to “aiutare i bambini”
- Coordinated press offices

EVENTS
- Sponsorships: partial or total cover by the company of the costs of an awareness raising event or fund raising promoted by “aiutare i bambini”
- Conventions and training seminars: on subjects related to childhood presented by personnel of “aiutare i bambini”, within the framework of company conventions or training seminars
- Merchandising: customized products purchased by the company as Christmas gifts or for other purposes

2012 RESULTS
230 sponsoring companies, 59 of which are new partnerships
13 corporate community days with the participation of 370 employees
18 corporate sporting events with the participation of 200 employees

Very often employees who are involved by their company in supporting projects of “aiutare i bambini”, become volunteers of the Foundation: and act as very good ambassadors and activists both inside and outside of the company. In addition, working in a socially responsible company represents a good incentive to motivate the employees, increasing their sense of belonging and loyalty to the company itself.

The partnership between a company and “aiutare i bambini” takes into account both the strategy and the objectives of the company and the company’s compatibility with the mission of the Foundation. Both organizations try to maximize the benefits and to act in a trustworthy and sustainable way.
